ABOUT US

Bilingualism Matters is an International Organization that was originally founded as a Center of Excellence at the University of Edinburgh. At the moment there are 17 international branches all around the world. On 23rd February 2018, Granada will become the second branch of Bilingualism Matters in Spain.

The goal of this organization is to raise awareness about the social, cognitive and linguistic benefits of bilingualism and second language learning, and to share our expertise (in an accessible format) with schools, policy-makers and the local community.

We want to help people who are interested in bilingualism and language learning, not only by providing info and answering their questions, but also by inviting them to participate in our research.

If you want to be informed about what is going on or have specific questions, please explore the links on this page or send us an e-mail. Please join us for the launch!

Bilingualism gives much more than two languages!
